MEDIA ADVISORY

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

September 21, 2020

As the Membership Chair for the National Fire Heritage Center, I want to thank you for your past membership and encourage you to renew your membership. We have new options and I encourage you to take advantage of them.

This past year our Public Information Officer (PIO) has engaged more people through Facebook, Instagram, LinkedIn, Twitter and our Website to inform everyone about the contents of our archives and feature our new trustee board members. The National Fire Heritage Center's Hall of Legends, Legacies and Leaders and the Benjamin Franklin Writer's Award recognizes people's contributions that have built the fire service. In addition to an Individual membership, another option for members to share their stories of how they have contributed to America's fire history is by choosing the Who's Who in Fire Protection Listing: <https://www.fireheritageusa.org/whoswho/sign-up>

Please subscribe to the NFHC newsletter to stay informed on all of the NFHC press releases and quarterly newsletters: <https://bit.ly/NewsletterNFHC>

In short, why should you become a member and support the National Fire Heritage Center?

- Have a safe place to preserve your department's history
- Have access to the works of significant leaders in every aspect of the fire service:
Building Construction trades, Educators, Training Officers, Health and Safety Officers, Fire Prevention and Code Enforcement Officers, Fire Behavior Researchers, Fire Engineers, Equipment Manufacturers, including industry professionals in the Structural, Wildland, Industrial, Rescue, ARFF, EMS, and Hazardous Materials disciplines
- Have a place to preserve your personal fire history and archives
- Be an advocate for preserving the history of America's fire service

I hope you will sign up or renew your membership today: <https://fireheritageusa.org/membership>

I welcome your questions and comments to help us continue our mission to preserve America's perishable fire service history.
